Determining how much money to bring to Florida for Meals:

The above calculations are/can be on the conservative side. It depends upon your child and his/her eating habits to determine how much to spend and how often on meals. Most students eat a larger breakfast and then (because of the heat) only eat one more time during the day. Students then pick a little when hungry rather than sitting down to a third meal.

In every park, there are eating establishments that have what you need on the menu for $14.99 or less. You can look online at Disney.com and look up "Parks and Travel", "Walt Disney World", and under "Things To Do...Dinning" links and you will get a list of all the establishments and the price ranges to work out where you would like to eat ahead of time. The same kind of searches can be made for the Universal Studios establishments.
